Community fears effects of rail station redevelopment

By Eva Astreinidou

THE £125million proposals to rebuild Oxford's rail station could be approved soon, despite a lukewarm response from neighbours.

Oxford city executive board met on Monday to discuss the next steps for the rail station masterplan after an early stage public consultation.

Oxford City Council leader Bob Price said the final plans, which will include further amendments for areas of concern, will be decided by planning officers in the next month.

Concerns raised from the consultation included increased congestion from additional short-stay car parking and drop-off points on residential roads, particularly Roger Dudman Way, Abbey Road and Cripley Road.

Campaign group The Abbey and Cripley Road Residents Association said the masterplan lacks consideration of local residents and that the scale of the building will change the local character due to loss of light and trees.

In response, city council representatives said: "The [masterplan] will be changed to reduce the overall impact on the west side of the station, trees retained and short stay parking relocated to Becket Street."

Cllr Price also said there would be further work on the proposed bus network around the station in the final version. The draft plans for a bus interchange were criticised by travel companies for not being suited to high frequency services.

They added that the location of the bus interchange would potentially increase the walking time for passengers between bus and train.

The idea behind the masterplan, drawn up by the city council, Oxfordshire County Council and Network Rail, is to 'provide an exemplary gateway to Oxford'.

The partners want the station to act as a catalyst to encourage wider regeneration in Oxford.

They say the redevelopment of the station has the potential to bring further economic benefits to the city through the potential re-opening of the Cowley branch line linking the city centre to the Cowley area.

Last week, Network Rail said more needs to be done in terms of tapping into future sources of funding.

They also said that there has been 'insufficient' assessment of pedestrian flows which in turn does not take future passenger growth into enough account.

The executive board has recognised that further detailed work on forecasting of passenger numbers will need to be carried out to achieve this.

Work on the station, if approved, will not start until the early 2020s.

College cracks egg dipping world record

HISTORY was made over the weekend as the Guinness World Record for the most people dipping egg soldiers simultaneously was officially broken.

To celebrate world egg day on Friday, Exeter College hatched a unique plan to get 183 people to simultaneously dunk toast soldiers into soft-boiled eggs.

To break the record everyone had to dunk each soldier twice and eat the eggy toast at the same time.

Staff, fellows and students beat the previous record of 178 soldiers in Gloucestershire in 2014.

Lorry driver charged after A34 crash passenger dies

By Eva Astreinidou

A LORRY driver has appeared in court charged with causing the death of a man by dangerous driving.

Plamen Atanasov, 48, of Violet Road, Southampton, was charged with causing death by dangerous driving and serious injury by dangerous driving after a collision between a lorry and a van on the A34 northbound near Abingdon on Thursday morning last week.

Thames Valley Police confirmed on Friday that 33-year-old Ian Messenger, a passenger in the van, passed away at the John Radcliffe Hospital.

His next of kin have been informed.

The driver of the van, 64-year-old Barry Smith, suffered a serious injury which is not believed to be life threatening.

Atanasov was remanded in custody and appeared at Oxford Magistrates' Court on Friday.

He will remain in custody and will appear at Oxford Crown Court on November 10.

Part of the northbound road remained closed between Marcham and Milton interchanges for much of the morning.

A spokesperson for TVP said officers were called just after 5.30am to reports of a two-vehicle road traffic collision involving a van and a lorry.

Police have asked anyone with information about the crash to call 101 quoting reference 115 12/10/17.

Youngsters get to the heart of lifesaving

PLASTIC dummies and paramedics were deployed across schools and colleges in Oxfordshire to teach students how to become lifesavers.

A nationwide event organised by the British Heart Foundation was held on Monday to teach children and teenagers how to restart a heart and to highlight the dangers of experiencing an out-of-hospital cardiac arrest.

Pupils from Wallingford School, pictured, were just some of those who participated, welcoming training staff from South Central Ambulance Service who taught pupils how to resuscitate a heart using plastic dolls.

According to BHF, only one in 10 people survive an out-of-hospital cardiac arrest in the UK.

Murder charge

A WOMAN charged with the murder of a five-year-old boy will stand trial next year.

Emma Jackson, 40, from Bromsgrove in Faringdon, was charged last week with one count of murder of Tyler Warmington who was found dead at a house in Faringdon on March 14.

She appeared at Oxford Crown Court on Friday and has been remanded in custody to appear at the same court on February 23.

Jackson's trial has been provisionally fixed for April 9 and is expected to last two weeks.

Officers found Tyler dead at the Bromsgrove Cottages property with stab wounds on March 14.

A post-mortem examination revealed the schoolboy's cause of death to be stab wounds to the chest.

Drugs offences

A MAN has been charged with conspiracy to supply drugs.

Hamza Said, 24, of no fixed address, was charged on Friday with conspiracy to supply cocaine and conspiracy to supply heroin.

Said appeared at Oxford Magistrates Court and was remanded in custody to appear at Oxford Crown Court on November 10.

Motorcyclist killed

A MAN in his thirties has died in a crash in Cumnor. The motorcyclist from Swindon died at the scene in Farmgdon Road on Monday at around 2pm following the collision between the motorcycle and a car.

All change for county boundaries?

THOUSANDS of Oxfordshire voters could be moved into different constituencies following the publication of potential new parliamentary boundaries.

The Boundary Commission for England (BCE) unveiled the plans as it opened its third and final consultation on Tuesday.

One of the bigger possible changes in the county would see Marcham, Drayton, Milton and other villages in that area plucked from Conservative Wantage and dropped into Liberal Democrat controlled Oxford West and Abingdon, which would be renamed Abingdon and Oxford North.

The latest update from the BCE also confirms a bid to rename Ed Vaizey's Wantage constituency to include Didcot has been rejected.

Here's what the latest proposals would mean for Oxfordshire:

- The county would keep its six MPs
- Three constituencies would be renamed. John Howell's Henley would become East Oxfordshire; Layla Moran's Oxford West and Abingdon would be rebranded as Abingdon and Oxford North, Oxford East, represented by Labour's Anneliese Dodds, would be changed to Oxford
- Wantage would not be renamed to accommodate Didcot
- Banbury would lose the biggest chunk of electorate, 35,398 down to 78,250
- Wantage would lose more than 4,000 voters while what is currently Oxford West and Abingdon would lose nearly 1,000. East Oxfordshire (currently Henley) would increase by nearly 6,000 while Oxford (currently Oxford East) would welcome nearly 7,000 more voters
- Marcham, Drayton, Milton would cross from Wantage into Abingdon and North Oxford
- Having previously covered as far south as Muswell Hill and east to Water Stratford, near Buckingham, the Banbury constituency would cradle Bicester but go no further and be cut off eastwards at Hethe/Bicester
- Oxford would be expanded west to include Botley Road, Jericho and Port Meadow
- Robert Courts' Witney would remain unchanged.

The potential revamp comes following a decision by Parliament to reduce the number of constituencies in the UK from 650 to 600.

All constituencies should fall between no fewer than 71,031 and no more than 78,507 voters.

Voters have until December 11 to comment on the proposals.

The commission will make its final recommendations to Parliament in September next year.

You can see an interactive map and have your say on proposals at boundarycommissionforengland.independent.gov.uk

More women say MeToo to sexual harassment

WOMEN from Oxfordshire joined a worldwide campaign on social media highlighting sexual harassment and its "constant presence in women's lives."

Joining in the campaign titled #MeToo, Oxford city councillor Ruth Brandt said it is "high time that the regular occurrence of sexual harassment is highlighted."

She said, "I think society doesn't acknowledge how prevalent sexual harassment and sexual attacks really are. So it is very powerful, and sad, to see tweets and facebook statuses with the MeToo hashtag."

Oxford West and Abingdon MP Layla Moran also gave her support, saying: "We need all stories of even casual harassment to come out and face the scale of the problem."

The MeToo campaign comes in the wake of the scandal involving Hollywood mogul Harvey Weinstein in which more than 30 women have made allegations of sexual harassment, including rape.

Night shelter to be demolished in favour of affordable housing

By Eva Astreinidou

A NIGHT shelter that has supported homeless people for more than 30 years will be demolished in the coming months

Lucy Faithfull House closed in February last year after Oxfordshire County Council announced budget cuts

Now, Oxford City Council has announced the building on Speedwell Street will be knocked down by the start of 2018 at the latest.

The city council plans to transfer ownership of the building to its own housing company to be used for flats, half of which will be affordable homes

Board member for housing and city councillor Mike Rowley has previously said the building was 'old-fashioned and 'in poor condition', adding that 'refurbishment would not be desirable

He said "We looked at the what could be done with Lucy Faithfull House pending demolition, it could not be made safe in time for winter and the homelessness providers in Oxford told us they do not have capacity to run it

We are working with seven city centre churches to provide extra space on rotation over the winter, which should be open every night during the winter months This can be staffed by the existing providers as it is much more manageable."

He said the council faces several challenges in dealing with the issue of homelessness including lack of services to address mental health issues, sofa surfing which can lead to homelessness as well as a 'blockage' where people get stuck in hostels because there is nowhere affordable for them to rent

He added: "The only long-term solution is to build genuinely affordable homes for local people who need them and the Lucy Faithfull House site will contribute to that when the council's wholly-owned housing company builds it out next year"

The closure of the 61-bed shelter was announced as part of county plans to reduce funding for homeless support by 38 per cent

Since then, more than 2,700 people signed a petition for the service to reopen.

Harnessing energy to help lower household bills in the future

HOMES in Oxford able to harness and store energy could help lower household bills for the community

This comes as project ERIC (Energy Resources for Integrated Communities) launched in 2015 has now installed solar panels and battery packs in more than 30 homes in the Rose Hill area of East Oxford as part of a two-year trial.

The project run in partnership by Scottish and Southern Electricity Networks (SSEN), Oxford City Council and home energy storage company Moixa will help residents use power generated at the time, as well as any excess solar power that is then stored for future use in the battery packs

Alex Howison, SSEN's innovation programme team manager South, said. "This trial and partnership is helping demonstrate systems that enable communities to harness their own power through solar or wind, that can then be stored and fed back into the community when it's most needed at times of peak demand."

Last week, MP for Oxford East, Anneliese Dodds paid a visit to Rosehill community centre which has also been fitted with the equipment.

Ed Gunn, operations director for Moixa added. "We were thrilled to introduce Anneliese to the project and demonstrate what we believe is a fantastic model for the future use of domestic energy"

Westgate death: student suffered 'multiple injuries'

A 19-year-old student who was found dead at the construction site of the new Westgate shopping centre died of 'multiple injuries'.

Coroner Darren Salter opened the inquest into the sad case of Max Mian, an Oxford University student from Norwich, last Wednesday.

Westgate workers at the shopping centre construction site discovered Mr Mian's body on October 2 at around 6.50am.

Mr Salter said the body was found outside of the main entrance to the John Lewis store, but it has not yet been confirmed whether he had fallen or jumped from the top of the building.

It is unknown how he may have gained access to the building, Mr Salter added.

The inquest will take place on February 15.

Calls for emission zone to be enforced sooner

By George Welch

GREEN groups in Oxford have said the proposed Zero Emissions Zone in the city centre is not enough.

Green Party councillors and the Oxford Friends of the Earth group have both called for plans to go further and for action to be taken sooner.

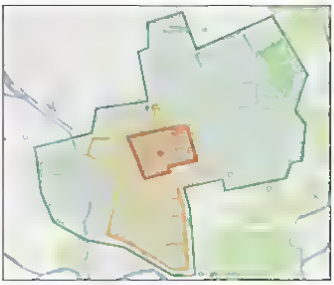
The response comes after a six-week consultation on plans to ban petrol and diesel vehicles from the city centre from 2020 was opened on Monday.

Oxford City Council wants an initial ban on some vehicles in a small area of the city from 2020 before spreading out to encompass the whole city centre and all vehicles by 2035.

Claiming that "words speak louder than actions", the Greens have criticised the Labour-run city council's decision to retain the temporary Oxpens car park until December 2018.

Combined with dropping car parking charges at both the reopened Westgate and retained Oxpens, the Greens are fearful that the increase of about 300 spaces would attract more cars and pollution to the city centre.

Green councillor Dick Wolff said: "Planning for better air quality in 2020 and 2025 is all very well but it is difficult to take such proposals seriously when the council is taking decisions now which are significantly worsening air quality."



How the ban on petrol and diesel vehicles will be implemented from 2020 to 2035 – the graphic shows the areas that will be subject to the zero emissions zone and how it will spread to cover a wider area over the years

Similarly Oxford Friends of the Earth has welcomed proposals but said plans should go further.

Spokesperson Chris Church said: "We need action and this could be a big step forward.

"This plan makes clear that cleaner diesel and petrol cars are not going to solve the problem.

"We remain concerned that this is not enough. The plan as it stands would still mean that St Clements – the most polluted street in Oxford – would not meet safe air standards until after 2030.

"A congestion charge and similar measures will be needed to complement the Zero Emission Zone."

The Zero Emission Zone is being backed by the city and county councils.

City councillor John Tanner said current levels of pollution are "damaging the health of Oxford's residents – a step change is urgently needed."

The place to be...?

SOUTH Park could be the place to host the next big music festival, carnival or half marathon.

Oxford City Council is asking event organisers to submit their proposals for large-scale events for 500 and more people by midday on October 26.

The city's South Park has previously played host to the Common People music festival, Cancer Research UK's Pretty Muddy obstacle challenge, a foodies festival as well as a bonfire and fireworks display.

Apple boss's advice for business growth

APPLE CEO Tim Cook opened a new "game-changing" hub for ambitious entrepreneurs at Oxford University.

The Oxford Foundry opened its doors on Wednesday last week to encourage the university's 23,000 students to connect, create and collaborate to help their business ideas take off.

Mr Cook described his invitation to the opening of the multi-million pound hub as a "privilege".

Offering the students advice on how to best use the facility Mr Cook said: "Your focus group is yourself — you should make products that you want to use. You can bet if you love it, many other people out there will love it too."

He added: "Find people that are different than you, where the common thread is that they want to change the world."

Spread over two floors, the Oxford Foundry is housed in a renovated Victorian ice factory in central Oxford.

The building boasts co-working space, presentation areas and a café at ground level.

Students from any academic disciplines are welcome.

The venture has been made possible by the support of a number of key donors, including a $1 million investment from Reid Hoffman, co-founder of LinkedIn.

Transport chiefs share their plans with footfall

Centre 'will be good for all retailers'

BUSINESSES preparing to welcome their first customers to the new Westgate Centre won't be the only city firms to benefit when the shopping complex opens next week.

Oxford City Council's head of communications Mish Tullar said the centre's arrival would have a positive impact on businesses across the city.

He said: "It is difficult to think of what the most recent development of this significance would have been for the city – it's a very exciting, new venture for the city.

"The most recent experience of a major city building a big new shopping centre in its centre was the Trinity Centre in Leeds in 2014.

"Contrary to concerns that it might take shoppers away from the surrounding shopping streets it actually increased footfall by five per cent in surrounding streets."

He added: "With all the new visitors coming into Oxford with the experience being promoted as a day out [these other shops] are only 200 metres away from Westgate and there should be many more people attracted to places like the Covered Market."

Less than half of the units at Westgate will be open on launch day although a 'phased retailer opening' was always expected.

Only 60 of 125 units will open for trade on Tuesday and this is expected to rise to 90 by Christmas.

The Westgate management team say this isn't unusual for a large shopping centre.

The county council's director of infrastructure delivery has urged people to 'make smart choices' on travel, amid fears of extra congestion and more visitors to the city centre once the Westgate centre opens.

Owen Jenkins said: "There's going to be an element of disruption with the opening because there's going to be a lot more footfall and visitors to the city.

"There's no getting away from the fact that there will be increased pressure on the transport infrastructure.

"Our main message is for people to come in, enjoy the new facilities but also to make smart choices on travel."

Chic cinema and crazy golf add to centre's attractions

Enjoy golf with a difference at Junkyard Golf.

FROM a day out with family or friends to a unique date night, the Westgate shopping centre is about more than just shopping.

The shopping centre, set to open its doors on Tuesday, will boast 125 retail and food outlets but will also include a crazy golf course and a five-screen cinema.

Junkyard Golf, an alternative nine hole crazy golf course spanning over 10 000 sq ft, will be stocked with bars and quirky junk.

According to Chris Legh, one of the founders of the Junkyard Golf Club, the site will make shoppers experience golf "in a hole new way".

He said: "Junkyard is a completely different kind of night out and we can't wait to bring it to the brand new Westgate.

"It's the ideal venue for us and our location as the anchor of the Westgate social positions us alongside some of the most exciting new food outlets in the UK.

"With over 10,000 sq feet to play with, look out for reclaimed and re-purposed installations, slides vintage cars, speed boats and the UV and jungle madness that has made our venues famous. Avoid the scary clowns though.

"Not your average night out, each course is Oscar worthy. Think skull ferris wheels, adult slides, wrecked cars and multiple levels of pure crazy golf madness and bars dotted around the courses provide a well-deserved pit stop."

For film buffs Curzon, a cinema that has become something of a British institution, will open its doors just a few weeks later on November 17.

The 80 year-old company which has been recognised by BAFTA for its contribution to British cinema, will screen popular releases as well as independent films for the more discerning movie fan.

The five-screen cinema will be located next to John Lewis and above Blackwells. It will have state of the art projection and sound – as well as a 35mm projector for classics. There will also be a VR Lounge, the first of its kind in a UK cinema.

expected to rise city-wide as £440m Westgate launches on Tuesday

Shoppers encouraged to use city's park and rides

Final preparations are being made ahead of the opening of Westgate on Tuesday – the centre will launch with more than 60 outlets

By George Welch

VISITORS to the £440million Westgate Centre will be given a "world class welcome to a world class shopping centre" as transport chiefs reveal "sustainable" plans to reduce congestion in the city.

Oxford's two main bus companies, the Westgate Alliance and local authorities are urging motorists to ditch their cars as they envision the city's five park and ride sites to act as the "gateway" to Westgate.

The Oxford Bus Company and Stagecoach Oxfordshire have invested nearly £16m combined to improve their fleets ahead of the shopping centre's opening on Tuesday – some buses even have sofas to give shoppers the best possible experience.

Focusing on the park and ride is believed to be the best way to allow for easy travel into Oxford.

Seacourt will be expanded by 1,000 parking spaces while all five sites will have branded totem poles matching the coloured buses to make it easier for bus users.

A single ticket solution to cover parking costs and the bus fare will also be introduced. Oxford Bus Company introduced contactless payment for its park and ride service in June to assist passengers.

Eleven new bus stops will serve the city centre while a new "river rapids" Oxford Bus Company route will service Benley and Wallingford to lure shoppers from further away to come to Oxford.

Sara Fuge, development manager for the Westgate Oxford Alliance, said: "We know our customer journey doesn't start and end at our front door.

"We've spent a lot more time, effort and resource on accessibility for our shoppers – it all comes down to offering people sustainable travel choices."

When its doors swing open for the first time on Tuesday, Westgate will boast 1,080 car parking spaces as well as 1,000 cycling spots, including a hub of about 180 spaces located inside the centre in secure storage.

The shopping complex will have later opening times to help mitigate congestion for commuters and shoppers.

Mish Tullar, from the city council communications team, said: "Our overall commitment that we are seeking to achieve is about reducing the number of car journeys into the city. Park and ride is going to be a big part of that solution."

Oxford Bus Company representatives at the launch of contactless payment

Managing director of Oxford Bus Company Paul Southall said park and ride would be the "gateway to the city".

He added: "We have been tasked to create a world class welcome for what will be a world class shopping centre."

£12m facility to focus on helping autism sufferers

A CONTRACT has been awarded to build a new £12million hospital in Oxford.

The 22-bed facility, which will cater specifically for those with learning disabilities, would be a "secure" unit where patients can be treated safely and securely.

Design work has already begun and the unit is expected to be fully operational by July 2019.

Director Anthony Coumbis from construction firm McBains, who will build the facility at the Littlemore site, said: "We are delighted to have been appointed to this contract.

"The new unit will provide safe and secure services for patients with learning difficulties in the Oxford area and have a strong focus on the environment being autism friendly."

McBains has built previous health sector projects including new facilities at the Royal Berkshire Hospital in Reading.

Oxford Health announced in July it would be taking over services for patients with learning disabilities in Oxfordshire from the crisis-riddled Southern Health.

Southern Health stopped operating in the county following the death of Oxford teenager Connar Sparrowhawk at its Slade House unit in Headington.

A&E waiting time worse but cancer care levels better

HOSPITALS across Oxfordshire are operating below target for A&E treatment and planned operations, according to national figures

A report assessing NHS hospital trusts across the country was released yesterday with Oxford University Hospitals NHS Trust ranking lower than required in two key areas but above required levels for cancer care

The focus of the report was waiting time targets in three key areas – A&E treatment cancer care, and planned operations and care, such as knee and hip replacements, which all have yearly targets

OUHT ranked 134 out of 134 trusts for A&E treatment. Emergency departments are expected to treat and discharge or admit or transfer a patient within four hours for 95 per cent of cases but according to the figures, the trust last met this target in July 2015

For planned operations the trust ranked 93 out of 131 trusts, with the target last hit in February 2016

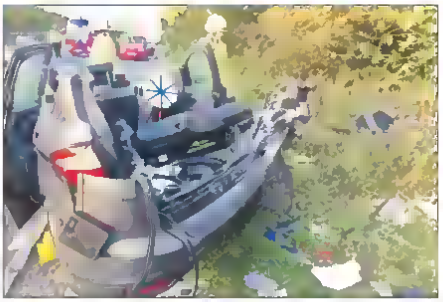
On the other hand, the trust surpassed national levels for cancer care by hitting the target of treating patients within 62 days of urgent referral.

Churchill, Horton General, John Radcliffe Nuffield Orthopaedic centre, Wallingford Hospital maternity unit, and Wantage hospital maternity unit all operate under the OUHT umbrella.

Three rescued after A34 crash

THREE people had to be taken to hospital following a crash on the A34

Fire and rescue crews were called to the collision on the southbound carriageway near East Ilsley at 4.30pm on Sunday



Three casualties were taken to hospital although none of the injuries are thought to be life threatening.

Police are investigating the cause of the two-car incident which forced the closure of that stretch of the A34

Celebrating three years of helping those in need

THERE was plenty of cake to go around when a cancer charity put on a birthday bash to remember.

Maggie s Oxford was opened in 2014 and since then more than 42 000 people with cancer and their families and friends have used their services

The charity which provides free practical and emotional support for people living with cancer welcomed friends and supporters of Maggie's for a third birthday party at its Churchill Hospital base

Supporters were able to enjoy an evening of celebration while recognising all of those who have helped the charity so far

The centre's head, Claire Marriott, said: "The local community around us have truly made the centre their own and I am delighted we have been here to offer a warm Maggie s welcome to men and women of all ages living with cancer

"Every year our Maggie's community develops and grows, but as always the kitchen table and our evidence based programme of support is at the heart of all that happens here."

Maggie s offers a range of support, including one-to-one or group sessions with a clinical psychologist, stress reduction, relaxation workshops, art therapy and creative writing courses.

More practical support includes advice about benefits and healthy eating.

Maggie's relies on voluntary donations to support and grow its network of centres and to provide support

Middle-aged gap year traveller died after falling from temple

By George Welch

A MAN due to return home from a so-called 'middle-aged gap year' with his wife later this month has fallen to his death in India

Oxford documentary maker Roger Stotesbury was visiting Orchha, in the Indian state of Madhya Pradesh, with wife Hilary when he plummeted 30ft from the Laxmi Narayan temple on Friday

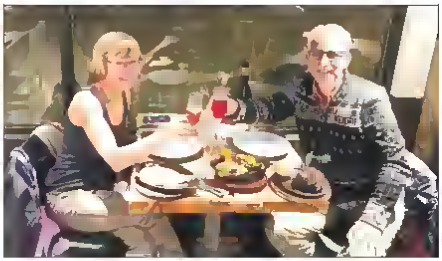
The man in his fifties, whose motto was "to die young as late as possible", fell to his death moments after he had finished taking shots of the scenery from the 17th century temple, his family has said

A family spokesman told the Press Association: "Roger took lots and lots of photographs, and he had gone to take some views from the temple

"He put his equipment down and then he fell."

They added: "They were the most happily married couple I have ever known. They were just so devoted to each other."

The Times of India said Mr Stotesbury, a father of two grown up children was "standing almost on the edge of a wall on the second floor of the temple" when he fell.



Rogar Stotesbury anjoying his birthday in January with wife Hilary in Argentina: It was "lovely to have happy birthday sung in Spanish," he posted and right, heading into tha Australian outback Pictures Twitter/@RogerStotesbury

A police officer in the town of Tikamgarh was quoted by the Hindustan Times saying: "Other tourists and officials on duty called an ambulance and he was taken to the Orchha government hospital and from there he was referred to Jhansi, looking at the seriousness of his injuries.

"However his wife insisted that he be taken to Ram Raja hospital in Orchha, where he died during treatment."

The Foreign Office said it was providing assistance to the family following the tragedy.

The couple were due to return to the UK this month, after completing their India trip.

Writing on their blog, ourmiddleagedgapyear.wordpress.com, the couple said they were renting out their home and trying to live on £100 a day.

They said: "We are Hilary and Roger a married couple from England/Scotland who are in their mid fifties. We've seen our two kids off into the wider world and we have no more caring responsibilities for our parents.

"So we thought now is the time to take a gap year and travel whilst we still have the health and energy. After all you only live once."

Conmen strike

TWO men stole cash from an elderly resident s Oxford home after posing as Thames Water workers.

The distraction burglary took place on September 29 around 5.30pm, when the elderly victim was at his home in Banbury Road.

Two men knocked on his front door saying they needed to test the taps.

Both men then entered the house. One distracted the victim in his kitchen, leaving the second free to search the lounge. They left five minutes later after stealing £150.

The first offender is white, around 5ft 9ins tall, of a slim build with black medium length hair, aged around 25 with a northern accent.

The second offender is also white, around 5ft 9ins tall and aged around 25 but of a stocky build.

Safety Steve shares advice

PUPILS from a Deddington primary school buddied up with Safety Steve to learn about keeping safe while living close to a building site

The Deddington CofE Primary School youngsters donned hard hats and high-vis vests on a tour around a building site to teach them about the potential dangers of building sites and give them a look at the construction process

Housebuilder David Wilson Homes is in the process of building Deddington Grange a development in the village of 84 three four and five bedroom homes

Senior sales manager Steve Barton said "We were delighted to invite pupils from Deddington Primary School to our development in the village to learn more about site safety and our construction process

"It s incredibly important to us to teach children who live close to our developments about the dangers of building sites "

Headteacher Clive Evans said the Year 3 and 4 pupils "greatly enjoyed" and "learnt a great deal" from their visit.

He added "They [the pupils] presented the information they ga ned to the rest of the children back at school so that everyone could benefit from the important safety messages

"They especially enjoyed meeting Safety Steve "

Pilot died after flying too low

By Eva Astreinidou

A PILOT was killed in a plane crash in Oxfordshire after his aircraft hit trees while flying below safe altitude an investigation has found.

Pilot David Norris, 64 from Milton Keynes died in the crash near Aston Rowant Nature Reserve in January

In a report released last week by the Air Accident Investigations Branch investigators concluded that visibility was poor and that the crash was not considered 'to be survivable'

The aircraft, which was flying 1,000ft (304m) below safe altitude had departed from Buckinghamshire and was flying to Chalgrove Airfield to pick up two passengers

The report concluded the pilot did not know about better conditions ahead and said it was considered likely he was uncertain of his position relative to the airfield

Investigators detailed the extensive damage to the light aircraft, a PA 30 Twin Comanche, adding: "The wreckage trail extended for approximately 120 metres As the aircraft continued along the track, it sank lower into the trees severing branches and sections of the outer part of the left wing.

"Both engines had detached from the wings and were found, with their propellers approximately 7m further along the trail. All the fuel tanks had been badly damaged and were empty but there was a strong smell of fuel throughout the wreckage trail."

According to witness reports, the fatal flight took place on a day with "foggy and miserable weather

A National Police Air Service helicopter attending the accident also reported that visibility deteriorated and that a low cloud prevented the pilot from reaching the site.

Light at the end of new tunnel for cyclists and pedestrians

IT is hoped a new pedestrian tunnel set to open next month at Milton Park will encourage more people to walk and cycle instead of using their cars

This comes after an investment of £900 000 by the Oxfordshire local enterprise partnership to revamp the once neglected rail tunnel.

Due to open in early November, the Backhill Tunnel will serve as a connection beneath the railway for visitors to be able to access the other side more easily

New lighting will illuminate the pathway and will be activated only as pedestrians and cyclists approach the tunnel to reduce maintenance costs and light pollution.

The new link will form part of a more extensive network that is planned to connect Milton Park to Milton Heights, with the next stage being a new junction at the A4130 to enable users to safely cross the road from Backhill Tunnel

The work, which is split in phases, is due to be completed entirely in spring 2018. Work on the tunnel was originally due to be completed in September

A representative from the council said the authority was asked to deliver the tunnel in 2015 but after a discovery of bats nearby and requirements from owners Network Rail, there had to be a review of design plans

Digging deep to offer more care at hospice

GROUND has been broken on a new state-of-the-art clinic due to open in 2019 after four years of fundraising.

Sobell House hosted a ceremony to mark the start of work that will feature a new clinic and garden annex.

The new hospice space will be built next to the existing Sobell House Hospice on the Churchill Hospital site and will offer a comfortable, safe and sympathetic environment for patients with complex illnesses such as dementia.

In January 2016, Sobell House pledged to invest £9million in the expansion of its care.

With £5m of that already secured, a four-year campaign to raise the additional £4million was launched.

Diane Gardner, CEO of the hospice charity, said: "We are working towards [a] vision to ensure Oxfordshire is a place where everyone has access to good end of life care wherever they are, and for their families to be supported both

200 green space homes set to be given approval

Campaign groups fear for the 'lasting impact'

By Eva Astreinidou

CAMPAIGN groups are standing united in their opposition to proposals to build more than 200 homes in Didcot.

Red Light Greenlight and Save Lloyd Road Fields Campaign were calling for residents to turn out in force ahead of a 'momentous' decision making meeting last night.

The plan to build 135 homes on Park Road, Didcot and the proposal to build 74 homes opposite East Hagbourne school have both been criticised by residents.

The campaigners have called on South Oxfordshire District Council to make the right decision.

They said: "Each decision will have a lasting impact on the future of Didcot and East Hagbourne. This is the tipping point."

Developer Greenlight has defended its plans for East Hagbourne, saying it is working to quash concerns over road safety and the safety of pupils who would be using the crossing in Main Road to access the primary school.

A representative said: "Greenlight Developments have taken concerns seriously throughout the planning process.

"Oxfordshire County Council has found there to be no highways issues with the proposed development and they support the planning application."

Greenlight added it has also commissioned an independent road safety audit, which concluded there were no safety concerns with regards to the crossing of Main Road.

> "Each decision will have a lasting impact on the future of Didcot and East Hagbourne. This is the tipping point."
>
> Campaigners opposed to the plans for 209 homes

They said: "The audit raises three minor points with regards to the design of the access junction, all of which have been accommodated within the scheme as designed."

Meanwhile, a representative from Catesby, the developer behind the Park Road scheme, said: "The proposals include 40 per cent affordable homes suitable for young families, first-time buyers and key workers.

"Our vision is to provide much-needed new homes in an attractive setting that complements the community and natural character of the local area.

"We have worked closely with SODC as the scheme progressed and are pleased to have an officers' recommendation to approve the application with no objections from the highways authority, no impact on heritage and the setting of the AONB [area of outstanding natural beauty] and a significant landscape buffer to respect Didcot, Cocoate and East Hagbourne as separate areas."

Both proposals have been recommended for approval by the council.

Go to oxfordshireguardian.co.uk for the outcome of the meeting due to take place last night.

during the patient's life and after their family member has died.

"We are expecting the work to take about 12 months and will be working closely with the contractors to ensure that patients and their families and staff are inconvenienced as little as possible as the work progresses."

The four-year investment plan to significantly increase hospice care in the county has already seen the introduction of a specialist end of life care team into the main hospitals so more patients can be helped.

Distraction theft

CASH was stolen from an elderly couple's home while a man claiming to be from the council distracted them.

The couple were at their home in Orchard Way, Harwell on September 18 at 12.45pm when the incident took place.

A man distracted the couple by talking to them about replacing doors while an unseen offender/offenders stole the money.

Police have released an e-fit of this man, above, who was seen by a witness at the scene. He is described as white, in his early twenties, around 5ft 7ins tall and of medium build.

The man claiming to be from the council is white, broad, between 5ft 7ins and 5ft 8ins tall, aged in his forties or fifties with short back and sides styled greying hair.

He was wearing a dark pullover, dark jeans, a lanyard and spoke with an Irish accent.

City bid to use empty homes

EMPTY homes in Oxford could be brought back into use to help homeless people or those in housing need.

The city council is marking this year s national empty homes week, running until Sunday, by calling on all landlords in the city who can to help bring more empty properties back into use.

Councillor Mike Rowley, board member for housing, said the authority intends to apply orders on landlords which will help takeover the maintenance of buildings that have been empty for some time.

He said "It s disappointing that any property is left empty in a city with such high housing needs Empty homes week is an opportunity to focus on what the city council and its partners housing providers and community organisations and homelessness charities are doing to bring these empty properties back into use."

In 2015 there were more than 360 homes in Oxford that had been empty for six months or longer

This reduced to 303 by March 2017 with less than 70 of these empty for more than two years

Last year, 22 homes were brought back into use

On the white path to gold

A 10-year-old snowboarder has been selected for a training programme that could set him on the path to Olympic glory

Bradley Baker from Thame, will take up a place at the Snowsport England Home Nations Park and Pipe Academy for the 2017/18 season.

This puts him under the 'eye of national coaches and trainers' and could help him with his ultimate ambition of winning gold at the Winter Olympics

Bradley, a pupil at Tetsworth Primary School trains at The Snow Centre in Hemel Hempstead. He will spend weekends training at Loughborough University where he will have access to world-class facilities

He will also get support with gymnastic sessions nutrition and fitness as well as the opportunity to take part in on-snow camps in Europe throughout the winter

He said "I am so proud to have been picked up by Snowsports England and asked to train under the eye of the national coaches and trainers

"I work hard and it's nice to see I am taking the right steps towards achieving my goals – which is ultimately going to a Winter Olympics and winning gold "

Snowsport England talent development officer Ian Findlay said "He has shown that he has both the talent and attitude to become part of the academy, which will a d his journey towards competing at a national level "

Scientist's funding boost to help treat secondary cancer

By George Welch

AN Oxford scientist has been awarded major funding to tackle breast cancer that has spread to the brain.

Oxford University's Professor Nicola Sibson has been granted almost £200 000 by research charity Breast Cancer Now to fund research and uncover treatment combinations to control the spread of breast cancer

Nearly 600 women in Oxfordshire are diagnosed with this type of cancer every year and over 100 women in the county die from the disease each year

The cash boost marked Secondary Breast Cancer Awareness Day on Friday last week – all 11 500 women who die as a result of breast cancer each year in the UK will have seen their cancer spread.

That s where Professor Sibson and her team come in.

They will undertake a three-year project to pinpoint which combinations of anti-inflammatory drugs reduce the growth of breast tumours in the brain most effectively, and whether these could also be given alongside radiotherapy with greater effect.

Professor Nicola Sibson has been awarded funding to tackle the spread of breast cancer

Scientists will implant breast tumours into the brains of mice, before testing a range of anti-inflammatory drugs and examining the effect on tumour growth.

The team will then combine the most effective anti-inflammatories with radiotherapy in mice to identify which combinations best control tumour growth in the brain

Professor Sibson, professor of imaging neuroscience at the university, said, "We urgently need to find ways to treat brain metastases [secondary growth] more effectively and improve survival rates.

"With this funding from Breast Cancer Now our aim is to increase treatment options for patients suffering metastatic spread to the brain

"We hope that by targeting the innate immune system we can halt or reduce tumour growth, and enhance the effectiveness of radiotherapy"

Dr Richard Berks, senior research communications officer at Breast Cancer Now said, "Our ambition is that by 2050 everyone who develops breast cancer will live ..Prof Sibson's project could help bring us one step closer to our 2050 vision and we d like to thank our supporters across Oxford who continue to help make our world-class research possible "

Bereavement support service opens up new help for parents

By Samantha McGregor

A NEW counselling service to support bereaved parents in Oxfordshire has been launched.

National counselling charity Petals which specialises in trauma and loss during pregnancy and birth, has expanded its free service to Banbury's Horton General Hospital

Bereavement midwife and counsellor Kim Paul, who was keen to ensure counselling was still offered to couples after her retirement, initiated the move

Its launch last week coincided with Baby Loss Awareness Week, an annual event to help raise awareness of miscarriage, stillbirth and neonatal loss

Statistics from Petals show one in every 200 babies in the UK is stillborn and one in four pregnancies end in miscarriage

Mrs Paul said: "Many couples find themselves shocked and bewildered by their loss and trauma, and unable to see a way forward.

"Specialised counselling provides them with a safe place to explore what has happened, begin to make sense of the impact and work towards a more hopeful future."

The maternity team secured funding from the Ashfield Fund, which is funded by bereaved families, and worked with Oxford University Hospitals to start the counselling service which began in June

It supports Oxfordshire couples suffering pregnancy losses from 13 weeks

Karen Burgess, Petals chief executive, said: "Expanding our counselling service to Oxfordshire was part of the strategic plan of Petals as we recognised the need would be similar to our pioneering service in Cambridge.

"We are therefore delighted that Ashfield Trust have provided funding, enabling the delivery of our free counselling service to parents in their local area, when they need it most."

MP Victoria Prentis, vice chairman of the All Party Parliamentary Group on Baby Loss, attended the launch.

She said: "Support for parents suffering the loss of a child is a subject close to my heart.

"When our son died, I needed all the help and support I could get.

"I am very pleased that a new service is being launched for parents across Oxfordshire, which will be accessible through our much loved Horton General Hospital.

"The launch today marks a positive step in providing specialist support for parents and their families

"I was honoured to meet those involved in the process and look forward to supporting Petals' work in the future."

The service hopes to take on a second counsellor next year

Victoria Prentis MP, second right, helped launch the free counselling service with representatives from Petals and the Horton hospital

Drivers honoured for years of safety

FIVE bus drivers have been recognised for their collective 68 years of accident free driving.

Stagecoach Oxfordshire's Paul Turner is now the bus company's safest driver having accumulated 19 years of accident free driving

Fellow drivers John Bell and Darran Brown celebrated 15 and 12 years respectively while Ady Dedia and George Irvine were both rewarded for their 11 years.

The quintet were presented with diplomas and badges to honour their years of accident free driving at an awards ceremony at Oxford's Four Pillars Hotel

Stagecoach in Oxfordshire managing director Martin Sutton congratulated a total of 226 drivers with a safe driving diploma at the annual Safe Driving Awards dinner at the end of last month.

He said: "Safe driving is paramount for Stagecoach, so we ensure that we recognise all of those who have been accident free over the last year

"In addition we are thrilled to honour those who have multiple years of safe driving.

"We are very proud of our top five drivers and are so pleased we could honour their achievement at the awards ceremony

"We look forward to celebrating with even more drivers next year."

The Safe Driving Awards is run in partnership between Stagecoach in Oxfordshire and the Road Operators Safety Council (ROSCO) to recognise drivers who have gone 12 months without an accident

Headteacher swings into his retirement with golf day

THE headteacher of The Manor Prep School in Abingdon will be retiring this Christmas after more than 11 years in the role

When Piers Heyworth announced his retirement he said he was looking forward to working on his golf swing

So to celebrate his years of service the Faringdon Road-based school put on a surprise crazy golf day last Friday

Pupils enjoyed a round of golf, were fancy dress tucked in to Mr Whippy ice cream and were given a boxed souvenir golf ball with Mr Heyworth's signature on.

A school spokesperson said: "Mr Heyworth will be sadly missed by all the children, staff and parents at The Manor and our golf day is just the start of many surprises for him before his last day on Thursday 14 December."

Alastair Thomas, headteacher at a Worcestershire school, takes over from January 2018

P2G chuffed to raise £16k and beat the target

By George Welch

MONTHS of tireless work, intense campaigning and a whole mountain of events have paid off for our charity of the year, which has smashed its target for 2017 by more than £6 000

Didcot-based fundraising group Play2Give set out to raise £10 000 at the start of the year to mark its 10th anniversary

But the last 10 months has surpassed expectations for over the moon founder Andy Baker, with £10 000 being raised for the Oxford Children's Hospital and Headway Oxfordshire.

That figure represents the organisation s most successful year – and there s still more than two months to go. P2G s previous record was £13,530 raised in 2015.

It s been the busiest, biggest and most action packed year so far for Andy who is refusing to rest on his laurels and has raised the bar to £17 000

Andy of Great Western Drive, said. "We are absolutely over the moon and chuffed beyond words to have smashed our target. This year has just been the most amazing yet and the most successful on record– never before have we raised this much money

"It just shows the local community of Didcot and the county have such love for P2G and taken us to their hearts to support our fundraising objectives so well year-on-year

"To have smashed our initial goal and to break it and raise more than ever before is just special for our big special year"

The 29-year-old added. "I never dreamt when I set up P2G a whole decade ago we would still be going strong and raising more each year

"The money we raise makes a massive and long-lasting difference to so many and we are all about staying local to help local people in need.

"Our hard and tireless work all year has really been worth it –but we re not giving up anytime soon, as we still want to raise as much as we can this year"

There are still plenty of ways to get involved with P2G's special year of fundraising

Helping hand for mental health

A SPECIAL book travelled the length of Oxfordshire inviting people to fight the stigma surrounding mental health

As part of world mental health day last week schools businesses and local officials contributed works of poetry art and hand-written pledges to a project launched by charities Oxfordshire Mind and Revolve

The work was collated into a book that then travelled Oxfordshire in a relay-style event, culminating in a gathering at county hall

Oxford city councillors Marie Tidball and Tom Hayes and Oxford s deputy mayor Christine Simms attended the event to help raise awareness about the importance of mental health.

MP admits using cannabis at uni as she supports legalisation

AN Oxfordshire MP joined pro-cannabis activists as they smoked a joint and indulged in hash cake outside the House of Commons

Alongdoo and Oxford East MP Layla Moran was with the group supporting legalising cannabis for medical use, admitting she had smoked before while at university and had in fact inhaled.

The unusual 'tea party' was organised by the United Patients Alliance, a group that wants to have the drug legalised for those suffering from chronic conditions, including multiple sclerosis

Labour MPs Paul Flynn and Tonia Antoniazzi appeared alongside Ms Moran who told the event one of her best friends had died from MS

She added "If there was anything that we can do to help them then I think this is a good thing."

This comes as a bill to legalise the Class B drug for medicinal purposes is tabe read on February 23 two years after a debate in parliament where government officials said there are no plans to legalise cannabis as it would not address the harm to individuals and communities'

Around one million people in the UK use cannabis for medical reasons but possession can result in up to five years in prison or 14 years for those who supply and produce it.

Plaque to honour first black graduate

By Eva Astreinidou

OXFORD S first black graduate will be remembered with a plaque to show commitment to recognising and supporting the brightest students regardless of background

Christian Cole graduated from University College in 1876 with a degree in classics before becoming the first black African to practice law in English courts in 1883

The college will unveil the plaque in his honour on Saturday at Logic Lane.

This comes as institutions are recognising black history month internationally

Sir Ivor Crewe master of University College, said. "We are delighted to be able to honour [Christian Cole] in this way The plaque will act as a permanent reminder of his remarkable achievements as well as a symbol of our continued commitment to recognising and supporting the brightest students whatever their backgrounds."

Dr Rebecca Surender, pro vice-chancellor and advocate for equality and diversity at Oxford, said. "The plaque will be a reminder of how far we have progressed since Cole graduated from Oxford, and of many more diverse stories of achievement and success."

The plaque s unveiling follows the launch of the Oxford black alumni network, a campaign to connect Oxford's black graduates and encourage future generations of leading black students in the UK.

The university has previously been criticised for its lack of diversity and inclusion.

Earlier this year, the campaign group Rhodes Must Fall said more needs to be done to promote racial equality and a diverse environment at the university

Previously, the group campaigned to have the Cecil Rhodes statue at Oriel College removed saying it was to combat the 'colonisation' of education by removing the tribute to the assassin and usurper

In April, the university apologised after a major backlash followed a newsletter released by its institution s equality and diversity unit

The newsletter suggested that avoiding eye contact could be deemed as racist, or a 'racial micro-aggression', which can lead to 'mental ill-health'

Homes target met

AFFORDABLE housing targets are being met in west Oxfordshire, new figures have revealed.

In the first quarter of 2017 a total of 24 new homes have been built.

This includes 20 properties in New Road, Bampton and four in Swinbrook Road, Carterton.

West Oxfordshire District Council wants to build 133 affordable homes in the 2017/18 financial year

Cherwell has also had a "successful" year building new homes and smashed its affordable homes target

New figures from Cherwell District Council show 1,102 new homes were completed in the district in 2016/17 and 28 per cent – 312– were affordable homes The council s target was 190

But the number of homes built is still 40 short of the target set in the 2014 Strategic Market Housing Assessment.

CU ban lifted

STUDENTS at an Oxford University college have backtracked on their decision to ban the Christian Union (CU) from their freshers fair.

Students at Balliol stopped the CU from attending the event earlier this month because they wanted it to be a "safe and secular space"

But organisers have since agreed to allow religious groups at future fairs.

Steering a change in opinion

By Samantha McGregor

A NEW production of award-winning playwright Alfred Uhry's comedy drama Driving Miss Daisy is touring the country.

And it stops off at the Oxford Playhouse from Monday, October 30, until Saturday, November 4.

When elderly widow Daisy Werthan crashes her car one day in 1948, her son hires her a chauffeur, an African-American named Hoke Colburn.

Daisy and Hoke's relationship gets off to a rocky start, but as times change across a 25 year backdrop of prejudice, inequality and civil unrest, a profound and life-altering friendship blossoms in this acclaimed comedy drama.

Dame Siân Phillips and Derek Griffiths star in the lead roles, with direction by Richard Beecham.

This production marks 30 years since the play premiered.

Dame Siân's career spans more than seven decades - from her multi award winning performance in I, Claudius to the Tony nominated performance of Marlene on Broadway.

Phillips is joined by RSC actor and legendary presenter, Derek Griffiths, most recently recognised as mechanic Freddie Smith in Coronation Street.

Sian Phillips stars as Miss Daisy and Derek Griffiths as chauffeur Hoke Colburn

He has numerous West End credits to his name, which include the original production of Beauty and the Beast, where he originated the role of Lumière, and the Child Catcher in the West End run of Chitty Chitty Bang Bang at the London Palladium.

From its landmark off-Broadway production in 1987 to the remarkable success of the 1989 film version, which was the winner of four Academy Awards including Best Picture, Driving Miss Daisy has touched the hearts of millions worldwide.

Tickets for Driving Miss Daisy at Oxford Playhouse start at £10 and are available from the box office on 01865 305305 or go to oxfordplayhouse.com

On stage

R&B star Akon at O2

Grammy-nominated and platinum-selling R&B hip hop artist and producer Akon will perform at the Oxford O2 Academy on Monday, November 6.

As well as his most well-known singles such as Smack That, I Wanna Love You and Lonely, Akon has also made more than 150 guest appearances on a range of records for artists including Eminem, Lady Gaga, David Guetta, Lil Wayne, Gwen Stefani, Snoop Dogg and Michael Jackson and has also sold over 35 million albums to date.

It is the first time in two years American-born Akon will play in the UK.

Moyet's other side

SINGER songwriter Alison Moyet will appear at the New Theatre this autumn as part of an international tour.

She will be showcasing her new album Other, released earlier this year.

Moyet, now in her 50s, said: "For me making a record at this age, lyrically, is a different proposition.

"Observation in most cases replaces emotion. The invisibility of middle-aged woman rather thrills me and instead I watch."

Moyet exploded onto the pop scene in the 1980s as one half of Yazoo with Vince Clarke, before working as a solo performer with hits songs including Invisible, Love Resurrection and All Cried Out.

The gig is on November 7. For tickets go to atgtickets.com/oxford

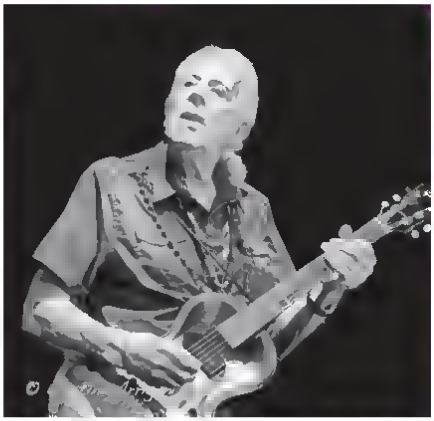
Talk about a legend...

By Samantha McGregor



BLUES Hall Of Fame icon John Mayall stops off in Oxford as part of his upcoming tour

Mayall's been at the forefront of the blues revolution since the 1960s with the formation of his band John Mayall and the Bluesbreakers

He takes to the stage at the New Theatre on November 8

The tour coincides with the release of John's 85th studio album Talk About That

Described as the Godfather of British blues John Mayall and the Bluesbreakers featured a cast of legendary members from Eric Clapton John McVie Peter Green Mick Taylor and Mick Fleetwood in different line-ups over the years

He is one of the most iconic and prolific British musicians of all time in any genre and has a career that has spanned six decades.

The guitarist singer and organ ist's pioneering blues blend has also seen him find fame in America where he was heralded for his many jazz, rock and blues innovations

This culminated in him being nominated for a Grammy Award for his 1993 album Wake Up Call The album featured special guest appearances from Mick Taylor, Mavis Staples and Buddy Guy

Cheshire born Mayall was awarded an OBE for his services to British music in 2005 and was also inducted into the Blues Hall of Fame in 2016

Having permanently retired the Bluesbreakers name in 2006, Mayall began touring with George Rzab on bass and Jay Davenport as a trio

This tour will also feature very special guests The Buddy Whittington Band – formed by former Bluesbreaker Buddy Whittington

Texan guitarist Buddy a long-term collaborator of Mayall joined The Bluesbreakers in 1993 he energized the band with his unique and fiery live style

Buddy made his recording debut on the Spinning Coin album

Stray Birds come to nest in Oxford

AMERICAN folk group The Stray Birds have announced a UK tour to include Oxford.

The band Maya de Vitry Oliver Craven and Charlie Muench will play at The Bullingdon on November 16 one of 11 dates on the whistle-stop tour

Starting in Glasgow on November 3 the tour will promote the band's latest, and third, studio album, Magic Fire

Recorded in upstate New York with Grammy-winning producer Larry Campbell Magic Fire marks the first time the band worked with an outside producer and drummer

The 12-song set opens with Shining In The Distance and includes Third Day In A Row and Hands Of Man

Hailing from Lancaster Pennsylvania, the band formed in 2010 and have spent the last few years honing their sound and touring extensively

Their Borderland EP was released in 2010 followed by their full-length debut The Stray Birds in 2012 Echo Sessions EP in 2013 and Best Medicine in 2014

Best Medicine debuted at number two on the Billboard Bluegrass chart and title track Best Medicine was named Song of the Year in 2015 at the International Folk Music Awards

In 2016 they picked up best band and album of the year in the AmericanaUK Readers' Poll for Magic Fire.

Previously the band has played Denmark's annual Americana celebration the Tonder Festival and Cambridge Folk Festival

Cunning new look for a traditional favourite

A NEW look, new menu and new owners but the same warm welcome awaits at The Fox Inn at Boars Hill.

Following an extensive makeover the traditional pub has some contemporary new features which combine well to create a home-from-home environment.

Seasonal menus celebrating the best of British produce are on offer with daily changing specials.

A range of pub classics sits alongside dishes for diners looking to explore new flavours and food with a twist.

As we found when we met out the refurbished inn just outside Abingdon. After a warm welcome and having enjoyed drinks at the stylish new bar we were seated in one of the many quirky nooks and crannies that give this pub such character.

In addition to the regular menu, there are daily specials on a board which always feature a butcher's choice and catch of the day.

We chose two very different starters to begin our meal with – venison scotch egg on celeriac and chive remoulade and whipped brie with grilled pumpkin and hazelnut and chervil pesto.

The egg was soft and runny while the venison had a rich earthiness to it and was complimented perfectly by the crisp remoulade.

I'm not sure what I had expected with the brie and pumpkin but it was a pleasant surprise offering a smooth creamy quenelle which paired well with the taste of the pumpkin and pesto.

As we waited for our mains we enjoyed the artwork on the walls much of which features foxes as you might expect.

The mains as with the starters were attractively presented and invited you to eat them as well as admire them – we opted for sea bass with saffron potatoes and samphire and brown crab dressing and the catch of the day the fish pie with battered anchovies and seasonal vegetables.

Sea bass and samphire is a winning combination – you can almost smell the waves washing in while the fish pie was delightfully topped with peaks of potato giving a slightly crisp topping added to by the battered anchovies giving an additional texture.

This was accompanied by a lime fresh zesty Picpoul de Pinet recommended to us to accompany the fish dishes which it did so excellently.

Don't be afraid to ask the staff for their advice – they are friendly, helpful knowledgeable and a credit to the pub.

With the zesty taste peppermint I opted for the lemon curd cheesecake for dessert, served with toasted meringue, lime cream and raspberries – all the sharp citrus flavours I love in a pud and they certainly delivered. My husband was feeling rather full so opted for vanilla ice cream and mango sorbet which I couldn't resist digging my spoon into to add to the zesty taste of my cheesecake.

Feeling more than full by now we took a walk around the pub to fully appreciate the changes that had been made and stepped out onto the decking. The large decked area in the garden will be well worth a visit in the warmer weather but you may well have to fight for a spot as it's sure to be popular.

A wide range of gins is on offer at the cosy bar and if you fancy a cocktail The Fox has a variety to choose from alongside its more traditional real ales

In fact had it been a warmer night when we visited I would have taken my rhubarb gin (one of many The Fox offers) and ginger outside to enjoy – and will do in the summer not the least to enjoy the splendid view of the Oxfordshire countryside.

CHRISTMAS & NEW YEAR 2017

"I honestly believe that Colourfence is the best general purpose fencing product on the market today!"

Get ready for Autumn

Now's the perfect time to replace your garden fence once and for all. Anna Ryder Richardson - Designer and Television Presenter - takes a closer look at Colourfence, the revolutionary low-maintenance system

It's been ten years since I regularly graced TV screens helping transform people's living spaces with MDF and stripped floorboards. Recently it's been more "celebrity knock out" than celebrity make-over as I took up the challenge of owning my own Wildlife Zoo in Tenby. In this time I've learnt quite a lot about fences and having researched the various options for my own benefit I thought I would share my knowledge with a wider audience.

The latest design processes mean there is now a tremendous array of fencing products for you to choose from - so instructed from a variety of materials. Each has its own attributes and ultimately it can often come down to a matter of personal preference. For me there was one unique system that stood out as providing the best balance between price and functionality which eradicates fencing problems for good. Or for at least 25 years. Colourfence. For quality, value, longevity, aesthetic design, this fencing system ticks all the boxes. Fencing made for the 21st century that will transform the look of your garden which is supplied and fitted by a company whose customer service is as good as the product.

In my view Colourfence is the Rolls Royce of fencing - just without the exclusive price tag. What's more, it's guaranteed to stay in place in up to 130mph winds and is virtually maintenance free.

To find out how the experts from Colourfence might help you, I suggest you call 01865 582 171 and speak to their team.

Gardeners' Questions

Q Wooden fence panels just don't seem to last - is there a storm resistant alternative?

A The Colourfence system has been tested under cyclonic conditions to withstand storms with wind gusts up to 130mph. Unlike your wooden fence – once professionally installed – Colourfence really will stay up.

Q No matter what I treat my wooden fence with - nothing seems to prevent it rotting or looking shabby for very long

A Treating your fence is a thankless and expensive task. It's also a losing battle. Wood simply wants to rot. Colourfence offers a low-maintenance alternative where by an occasional wash down will keep it looking great for up to 25 years! GUARANTEED†

THIS WEEK'S JOB

Colourfence: The ultimate garden fence?

For many Colourfence is perhaps the ultimate choice. For the last 15 years it's been widely used across the UK and has steadily gained a reputation for its quality. By using the highest specification Colorbond steel in the fence structure itself, complemented by the highest level of customer service from accredited Franchisees, Colourfence is now regarded by many as the premier fencing solution in the market. Immune to the rot and resistant to the weather that so quickly effects wooden fences, Colourfence has none of the drawbacks of wood - plenty of additional benefits and what's more it is better value!

Call 01865 582 171 for more information

Head into Autumn - with COLOURFENCE

The only garden fence you will ever need!

Every gardener knows that it pays to plan ahead. If you are one of the thousands of people who watched helpless, as winter winds battered their garden, it will not be a surprise that garden fences are almost always the first casualty. Whether you have previously patched, painted or simply prayed to keep your fence going, there's no escaping the fact that timber fences will always fall victim to the weather. With Colourfence you can put your garden straight once and for all. Colourfence is scientifically tested and cyclonically rated to ensure when professionally installed, it can withstand wind gusts of up to 130mph. Once it's up – it stays up and is guaranteed to look good year after year. Safe, extra secure and hassle free – you will NEVER need to paint it, treat it or patch it. An occasional hose down will be all you need do to keep it in top condition for years to come. In fact the system is so durable that Colourfence will guarantee† their fencing to last at least 25 years. Available in a range of colours to suit any garden, with or without decorative trellis, the highly skilled installation team make short work of their dramatic transformations. Your sad old fence will be efficiently cleared and replaced, leaving you to get back to enjoying your rejuvenated garden. Pricing is just as straightforward and equally attractive. Starting costs are in line with inferior timber systems but with no annual treatments required, Colourfence saves you time and money each and every year. Their aim is your peace of mind. With a 25 year guarantee† Colourfence speaks for itself and promises a lifetime of hassle-free enjoyment.

Get your beard on and get ready

MAKE the festive season even more memorable by taking part in one of the biggest Santa runs in the UK to raise money for local terminally ill children young adults and their families

The ever popular pre-festive season event for Helen & Douglas House Hospice is happening in central Oxford on Sunday December 10

The 3 5 km fun run starts in Broad Street and goes through University Parks.

Last year 2,200 Santas of every age took part to help raise funds for the local charity that provides hospice care for children and young adults from across the region

Your participation in Santas on the Run will make a real difference in helping to care for terminally ill children young adults and their families through exceptional hospice care

It costs over £5million a year to run the two hospice houses and provide the outreach nursing service and it cannot do this without your help

The charity provides medical emotional and practical support to help families deal with the implications of living with a child who will die prematurely so they can make the most of their time together

School's Out

Roll down a hill or build a den no matter your age

IT'S half term in October but that doesn't mean you can't get out and enjoy what's around you.

With autumn crafts, tree-climbing, Hallowe'en trail and pumpkin carving, there's no excuse to be bored at half term this October.

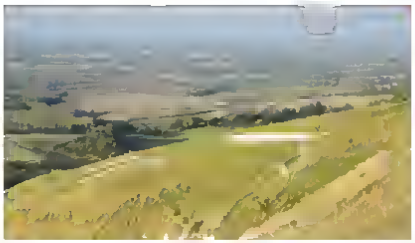
There are plenty of places to take an autumnal walk or enjoy one of the National Trust's recommended 50 things to do before you're 11¾. You could play conkers, explore inside a tree or go on a nature walk at night.

White Horse Hill at Uffington offers as much outdoors as you can handle – even on the calmest day, you can always find a breeze to fly a kite. In fact, most of the time you must take care not to take off!

And the sense of freedom and oneness with nature that comes from standing at the top of the hill is second to none. It's got to be one of the best places to challenge a child to climb a hill, fly a kite and then roll back down.

Park up at the car park, and savour the views as you head out across the fields towards the site of the White Horse.

Make sure you complete these 50 things during your visit.



■ No 2 roll down a really big hill

Dare you tumble down the precipitous slopes under the famous White Horse towards the Manger, or would you rather roll down Dragon Hill? This extraordinary hillock is said to be where St George slayed the ferocious fire-breathing dragon. Watch out for the white mark at the top, where it is said that the dragon fell and his poisonous blood has scarred the landscape to this day.

■ No 7 fly a kite

Feel the exhilarating tug of the wind against the strings of your kite... but watch out you don't take off.

■ No 25 make a grass trumpet

Make wild music. Blow a grass trumpet and tick it off your 50 things to do before you're 11¾ challenges this year.

■ No 28 climb a huge hill

Put your best foot forward and climb to the highest point in Oxfordshire. The trig point, which marks 262m, is located between the Horse and Uffington Castle.

From here enjoy the best views of this dramatic landscape with its high crest and rippling valley. Then challenge yourself to climb up the side of the Manger to the White Horse or follow in the footsteps of St George and conquer Dragon Hill!

Advertorial

There is plenty of entertainment at the British Motor Museum this half term!

Visitors to the British Motor Museum are invited to get creative this half term from 21 – 29 October. They can draw, paint, stick and colour with a number of art-based workshops which run from Monday to Friday. Part of the 'Fantastic for Families' national art campaign, these fun activities are sure to entertain the whole family!

On Monday & Tuesday be part of 'Motor Mouths' a digital arts project led by artist Richard James. Start by simply drawing a car, then using digital technology you could see yourself in the driving seat. On Wednesday artist Maria Clancy will guide you through the process and techniques of painting in watercolour. There will also be a chance for you to add your car to a collaborative artwork this Maria will be producing. Whilst on Thursday F1 motorsport artist, Brian Casey, will be on hand to show you how he draws and sketches in fine detail, so that you can have a go at creating your own detailed masterpiece. Then on Friday you can stamp your 'Marque' and join in the print workshop choosing from an array of templates inspired by the collection of car badges.

It wouldn't be October half term without something Halloween – so the 'Black Cat' trail is back by popular demand. Youngsters can search for the Black Cats around the Museum using torches to reveal the colour of their eyes. Suitable for 3 years plus. There is also a brand new interactive trail for all the family – the case of the 'Missing Plans,' visitors will need to follow a trail of clues to solve the mystery!

Emma Rawlinson, Life Long Learning Officer at the British Motor Museum stated "With an exciting week of family friendly activities from art-based workshops to family trails, plus the chance to meet various artists and see an art installation in situ, we have plenty on offer this half term to keep everyone entertained!"

All half term family activities are included in the Museum entry. Adults £14, Children £9 (5-16 years) under 5's free, Concessions £12 & Family £39 (2 adults & up to 3 children) Buy one day and get 12 months free if you Gift Aid your entrance. Both trails are running daily including the weekends. All workshops run on weekdays 10am to 3pm. There is no need to book, just drop into the Learning Spaces. Most workshops allow you to take away your completed masterpiece and are suitable for 5 years plus unless otherwise stated.

To find out more information please visit the website at www.britishmotormuseum.co.uk/events/family+activities or call 01926 641188, England.

- The British Motor Museum consists of two buildings – the Museum and the Collections Centre. Together, these buildings house the world's largest collection of historic British cars; including iconic cars such as the Austin 100 HP Land Rover No1, Morris Minor No1, the first and last Mini, MG old No1 and the Thunderbirds Fab1 car. The Collections Centre also houses 50-100 cars from the Jaguar Heritage Collection.
- In addition to the car collections, the British Motor Museum is home to the Trust's extensive Archive of business, sales and technical documents, photographs and film as well as the personal papers of industry giants such as the Lords Austin and Nuffield, and Sir Alec Issigonis, all of which chart the course of the British motor industry from the 1890's to the present day.
- The British Motor Museum delivers a range of educational packages which support the National Curriculum – science, technology, engineering and maths (STEM) subjects at KS1 to KS4. A wide range of family and lifelong learning activities also take place in the Museum during school holidays.
- Each year the venue hosts a number of highly successful and varied motoring and family events, from the Classic & Vintage Commercial Show to the UK Slot Car Festival, as well as many other marque events, lectures, workshops and rallies. KAKURO

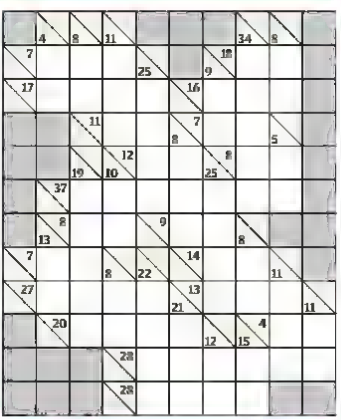
Fill in the white squares with the numbers 1 to 9.

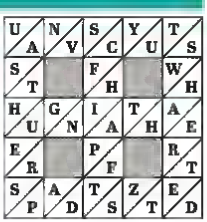
Each horizontal block of squares must add up to the number in the shaded square to its left, and each vertical block must add up to the number in the shaded square above it.

No number may be used more than once in any one block.



SPLIT DECISION

Cross out one of the two letters in each divided square to reveal a completed crossword grid.



NINER

Each number from 1 to 9 represents a different letter. Solve the clues and insert the letters in the appropriate squares to discover a word which uses all nine letters.

A good time to be a girl

Said our CEO, Cheryl Giovannoni, speaking to the Girls Day School Trust

Whilst there is continual media coverage of anxious, unhappy teenagers there are also a vast majority of girls who are far stronger, resilient, opinionated, and feisty than they are given credit for That can be incredibly empowering for a girls' school, and Oxford High is relishing the challenge of how to prepare our students for the wider world, for their roles as future leaders and as happy individuals.

To do this requires continual innovation and understanding of the ways girls learn. Our 360 Programme for Sixth Form offers a very different approach to academic achievement, developing leadership, and nurturing self-belief. This academic year, we launch our very own MOOC in partnership with FutureLearn and the GDST This enhances the Perspectives strand of the 360 focusing on 'me, my community and my world' and includes life skills such as employability personal finance and networking delivered via a tech platform that reflects the digital age our students inhabit.

We believe every girl who is bright and keen should have the opportunity to fulfil her potential regardless of financial circumstances. Almost one in five of pupils at GDST schools receives a bursary or scholarship to help towards fees and our long-standing relationship with the HSBC Scholarship Programme provides life-changing bursary funding for girls entering OHS from the state sector

If you are interested in studying at Oxford High, contact us now on Tel. 01865 318500 or Email. admissions@oxf.gdst.net

Almost one in five of pupils at GDST schools receives a bursary or scholarship to help towards fees

With our bursaries and scholarships, and ten new bus routes, getting to Oxford High School is more achievable than you think

  Get a response in minutes not days
- ✓ No pushy salesmen
  Our sales team are all building pros
- ✓ Top-class landscape design
  Not just drawings - creative 3D visuals
- ✓ Stereotype-defying craftsmen
  With manners to match their skills
- ✓ High quality at great value
  Best materials and latest methods
- ✓ Absolute peace of mind
  We're not happy until you are

Your home is your greatest asset, and you've worked hard for it.

We know you care about the impression your home makes on your friends, your family and your neighbours, and you value quality and style.

So you need to be certain that your new driveway is designed to enhance your home, built from the finest materials and engineered to last.

Let's be honest – the driveway business doesn't enjoy the best reputation, with expensive, hard-sell national home improvement firms at one end and cheap fly-by-night operations at the other.

We think you deserve better.

So we looked closely at the problems associated with our industry and built an entirely new model.

We founded the the New Driveway Company to bring a new level of professionalism, design and customer service to the homeowners of Oxford.

Call us now and book your FREE design meeting.

Home Owners aged 50+
Protect your home from future care home fees

"We've worked hard and saved all our lives. Why should the Local Authority get it all?"

Does this sound familiar?

"We have made our Wills, leaving everything to each other and then to the children."

These are known as Mirror Wills. Sounds reassuring enough, doesn't it? But your children could in fact end up with very little or even nothing at all.

If your surviving spouse has to go into care, they will have to use all their assets to pay for their care until they get down to their last £14,250. It is therefore not a good idea to leave your half share of the home to your surviving partner but instead leave them the use of your share. This can be achieved by making new Property Trust Wills. These legitimate steps must be taken while you are both alive and in reasonable good mental health. It is therefore important for couples to act now!

Most of our clients come to us having already made standard Mirror Wills or have been meaning to make a Will but simply haven't got around to it. With Property Trust Wills, yourself and your spouse/partner each leave your half share of the home to the children in Trust but state that they are not to receive it during the lifetime of the surviving spouse/partner. This half would then NOT be included in any future means test calculations for care fees. The surviving spouse is free to sell their share of the home, raise cash or move house. Your children are powerless to intervene but simply have to wait for their inheritance, as they would have done previously.

April King Legal are your local estate law specialists and have prepared a jargon-free guide to protecting your hard earned assets. Call for your free copy today. Your details will remain confidential and never passed to any third party.

These invaluable information packs also include details of Lasting Power of Attorney and our special Bloodline Trust Wills which help prevent your children and grandchildren from losing their inheritance due to a child's divorce, remarriage or financial difficulties.

Honda Civic 1.5 VTEC Sport Plus Manual

Perfect companion for modern driver

By Tony Yates

For this week's review – I decided to check out if the new Honda Civic is the perfect car for the modern driver. Well after 18 hours of driving – I am happy to report that the new Civic is the perfect companion for the modern motorist.

And when I say perfect – it's not really that far off. Yes, you may not agree with me on all levels – but it has to be noted that there are areas where the new Civic really does stand out against some stiff competition from the likes of Audi and BMW.

Power & efficiency

The Civic is powered by a 1.5-litre VTEC petrol engine that produces 182PS and 240Nm of torque, which makes overtaking in many situations a doddle. As with most Honda engines, it's very refined and pretty much perfect for all those times when you need a willing engine. 0-62 comes in around 8.3 seconds and a max speed of 137mph is achievable. Honda also wanted to make the Civic go as far as possible with the least amount of fuel and on a good run, I managed a staggering 48.7mpg, I would also like to say that the 6-speed gearbox is direct and a real peach to use thanks to Honda getting the gearing just right.

On the road

First off – great chassis, along with a suspension setup that you know has taken Honda many hours of road testing to get it right. The steering is also direct and the grip levels are good, which means the Civic feels tight and taut into the corners. I'm going to say that Honda do a pretty good job of getting the whole package to work together and I have no issues in giving the Civic five stars when it comes to how it performs out on the open road.

The new Honda Civic can give some of its competitors a run for their money

Design & technology

Honda has carefully crafted the new Civic to give it a dynamic presence on the road – whilst also introducing some neat touches like the sculpted headlights and the very bold and almost stealth looking body lines. There is also something more to be said about those sharp lines and bold edges, because it seems to bounce light off every panel, giving it a really good roadside appeal.

Inside, it's all good with a quality interior and soft touch surfaces all round which gives it a nice appeal. The Civic is also packed with Honda Connect Technology like; AM/FM, DAB, Bluetooth connectivity, internet browsing, satellite navigation and a rear-view parking camera. Plus you get 'Honda Sensing' as standard which includes a camera and radar technology such as Collision Mitigation Braking System, Lane Departure Warning, Traffic Sign Recognition and Intelligent Adaptive Cruise Control.

Honda Connect is also compatible with Android, along with a GARMIN 7" touchscreen Navigation, 2 x USB & 8 speakers. You also get smart entry & start, Blind Spot Information, Wireless charging, Adaptive Damper System (all round) LED headlights, dual zone climate control, dual centre exhaust and 17" alloy wheels. Plus a lot more additional equipment that I could tell you about if I had the time. But be warned, the Civic comes fully loaded with all you will ever need and you won't be left wanting for anything.

To sum up

The Civic is a brilliant machine from the people at Honda and I recommend you go out and take a really good look at the new Civic.

Sainz hoping to hit the ground running in first race for team

By Adam Flinn

F1 - Renault

CARLOS Sainz will make his debut for Renault at this weekend's United States Grand Prix as the Enstone-based team looks to climb up the constructors' championship table.

Having already signed for Renault for the 2018 season, Sainz has been brought in early to help the team as it targets an overall finish of fifth place.

Renault are currently eighth on 42 points, 24 behind Williams in fifth with just four races remaining.

Sainz has enjoyed a stellar season so far amassing 48 of Toro Rosso's 52 points, and is looking forward to the new challenge this weekend in Austin.

He said: "I'm very excited to be joining the team and I hope to hit the ground running.

"It's a big challenge, but it motivates me. We have this last push for the season and I have to find where the limit of the car is, get used to the steering wheel, things like that.

"It's good to see the people at Enstone putting the work in to get back to the top and they can be sure all the effort being put in is being matched on my side of things and I will be pushing flat out to help the team."

Renault slipped back behind Haas in the constructors' table after the last race in Japan in what was their second consecutive race without any points.

Nico Hulkenberg had been on for a top-10 result but the mechanism on his DRS system broke during the race, forcing him to retire.

Jolyon Palmer finished just outside the points in what was his last race for the team.

Renault's managing director Cyril Abiteboul said: "The US Grand Prix is an important race for us, as we remain in the fight for fifth place in the constructors' standings.

"We are hugely disappointed to go back-to-back races without scoring a point, which has benefited our rival teams. We are missing out on points due to reliability and it's essential we have an error-free weekend in Austin."

Bidding for more than a point in Texas this time

F1 - Haas

HAAS head off to their home race in the United States off the back of only the second double points finish in their short history, secured last time out in Japan.

The American team, which has its European headquarters in Banbury, had drivers Kevin Magnussen and Romain Grosjean finish eighth and ninth in Suzuka.

The six points earned from that meant Haas leapfrog Renault back into seventh place in the constructors' championship.

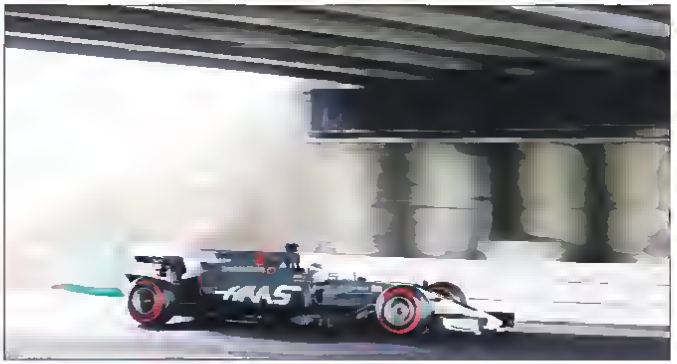
But ahead of this weekend's race in Austin, Haas team principal Guenther Steiner is unwilling to make any predictions on where his cars will finish come Sunday.

He said: "We just go out in first practice, see where we are and go on from there.

"To make predictions this year in the midfield is impossible.

"People wrote us off after Malaysia, said we'd scored the last of our points this year, then we came back in Japan with two cars in the points.

"Last year we scored a point at Circuit of the Americas and we'll try to do better this year."



Romain Grosjean finished ninth in the last race in Japan. Picture: Haas F1

Looking to get both drivers in the points to boost standing

F1 - Williams

SCORING points with both drivers is the main target for Williams this weekend as they fly off to the United States Grand Prix.

The Grove-based team have scored points in each of the last five races and now have a 14-point lead over Toro Rosso in the constructors' championship as they fight to retain fifth.

They are seemingly too far behind to do anything about Force India in fourth, but are optimistic of a strong run-in to the end of the season.

Paddy Lowe, Williams' chief technical officer, said: "The Circuit of the Americas has a very spectacular layout and has created some fantastic races in its short history.

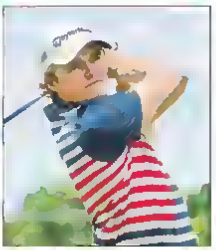
"We have been showing better performance during the last couple of races and we hope for this pattern to continue into this race weekend.

"Our ambition, as always, is to score points with both drivers and we believe this is a realistic target."

Meanwhile, the team is continuing to evaluate Polish driver Robert Kubica over a race seat for 2018 alongside Lance Stroll.

Birdies help Eddie secure another good performance

Golf



Eddie Pepperell carded his sixth top-10 finish of the year in Milan

ON-FIRE Eddie Pepperell put in another superb performance to secure a top 10 finish for the fifth time in six competitions at the Italian Open.

The Frilford Heath member continued his rich vein of form with a fantastic opening round of 64 for a share of the lead after 18 holes.

The 26-year-old opened with three birdies in the first five holes. A bogey on the eighth was just a bump in the road as he carded three further birdies and an eagle on the 14th.

Pepperell slipped to sixth heading into the weekend following a mixed back nine on Friday but remained in the hunt with a second round of two-under par.

Another round of 69 followed but two dropped shots on the back nine pushed the Abingdon man out of the top10 heading into the last day.

However Pepperell produced when it mattered and a final round of 66 confirmed his sixth top-10 finish of the year.

Birdies on the first, sixth and ninth holes – with a bogey at the third – put him on course for another impressive round.

Another eagle on the 14th shot him up the leaderboard and a birdie on the 18th clinched a share of 10th.

Pepperell collected €103,398 in prize money for his clubhouse sixteen under par.

He has moved up 28 places to 156 in the world rankings after his performance at the Italian Open, which was won by Tyrell Hatton.

Ten place slip as conditions take their toll

MotoGP

A SODDEN Bradley Smith was left upbeat despite failing to pick up any points in a rain soaked Japanese MotoGP.

The Forest Hill rider impressed as he qualified in seventh – and his Red Bull KTM team recorded their best qualifying campaign yet – but the 26-year-old seriously suffered in torrential conditions to finish 17th.

Through enormous plumes of spray both Smith and team mate Pol Espargaro, who crossed the line in 11th made great starts before fading away.

But Smith, who this month was confirmed as a KTM rider for 2018, remained in a positive state of mind.

He said: "They were tricky conditions out there with a lot of water, kind of similar to what we had in Misano but here it just kept on raining.

"I went back a bit from seventh on the grid...but I was seventh on the grid!

"It's been a positive weekend in many ways. We have had many positives from the wet laps here to take forward to Phillip Island and Sepang particularly if it rains there.

"Overall I'm happy with the weekend as it was the first time in these conditions so we'll learn going forward."

Smith is back in action on Sunday at the Australian MotoGP.

Focus back on league after Cup

By George Welch

Oxford City

FOOTBALL League opposition may await Oxford City in the first round proper of the Emirates FA Cup, but boss Mark Jones has called for focus ahead of two important league matches.

The Hoops travel to Colchester United next month having beaten Whitehawk, Leiston and Bognor Regis Town on Saturday to reach the first round for the first time since 2011.

Jones admitted to having mixed reactions following Monday's draw, which also drew city rivals Oxford United away at League Two side Port Vale.

He said: "If you are being totally honest, it's not quite the draw we'd have handpicked, but it's a great opportunity for us to go to a League Two club.

Matt Paterson may have missed the penalty he won but made amends scoring the winning goal Picture: Michael Allen

"It's a nice stadium and we are going to try to push and get as many supporters to come and support us on the day.

"It will certainly be a tough one but we've got to go there and give our best and that's what we will be trying to do."

The winners will enjoy an £18,000 cash boost but before then, City who are struggling in the bottom three of the National League South, face a trip to Hemel Hempstead Town (8th) and a home match against Concord Rovers (21st).

And Jones wants his players minds focused on getting the club out of trouble.

"We've got to forget about the tie for the time being as we've got two very important league fixtures coming up," he said.

"We are obviously not in a good position in the league and we need to get some points on the board.

"[The FA Cup's] got to go to the back of our minds for now and concentrate on these two important league games".

City secured their place in the first round with a 1-0 win against Bognor Regis Town at Court Place Farm on Saturday.

Top scorer Matt Paterson, who missed a first half penalty, got the all-important goal on 32 minutes.

Barcelos debut goal nets Diddy victory

Evo Stik round up

DIDCOT Town got back to winning ways with an impressive 2-0 win at promotion hopefuls Evesham United on Saturday to keep their early season sights on the play-offs.

The Railwaymen included new signings Felipe Barcelos and Michael Alexis in their starting XI, the former scoring the vital second goal to secure the points.

Defender Stuart Cattell powered home an unstoppable header to give Diddy a 10th minute lead.

Things could have been even better for Town but George Reid wasted a penalty kick he had won after being tripped in the area.

The visitors continued to frustrate Evesham and slammed the door shut on any comeback as Barcelos' brilliant finish sealed a well-earned win for the Railwaymen.

There was an improved performance from North Leigh, but the west Oxfordshire side's indifferent Evo-Stik South West campaign continued with a 1-1 draw with Wimborne Town at Eynsham Park.

Tobias Holmes netted from the spot to give the away side the lead in the first half.

Leigh stopper Manny Agboola had better luck when he saved a second half penalty before Sam Mendes curled in an equaliser.

Kidlington recovered from a first half pummelling to secure a 1-1 draw away to Larkhall Athletic.

Kidlington improved after the restart and took a 69th minute lead when Darius Browne blasted home a Lance Williams cross.

But Larkhall levelled 10 minutes later thanks to a Joe Tunmelly penalty after Tommy Castle brought down George King.

Elsewhere, mid-table Thame United slipped a place in the Evo-Stik South East table after a 4-2 defeat at Cambridge City. Mark West scored both United's goals.

Puritans get back to winning ways

Banbury United

A RUTHLESS 16 minute blitz against a hapless Gosport Borough put an end to Banbury United's three-match losing streak on Tuesday.

Jefferson Louis, Ravi Shamsi and Tom Bradbury all struck early on for the visiting Puritans, who ran out 4-0 winners.

Conor McDonagh netted the fourth against a pitiful Gosport side that has a solitary point to their name.

Despite the scoreline, Gosport did make the Banbury defence work hard and Matt Buse went closest for the home side.

But Mike Ford's side could have had more as Louis had an effort cleared off the line and Darren Pond struck the woodwork.

United travel to Dorchester Town (20th) on Saturday before hosting Chesham United (17th) on Tuesday.

High-flying Freds come back to earth with a bump

Hellenic round up

RED HOT Wantage Town had their 10-match unbeaten run halted in the most abrupt fashion at Bracknell Town on Tuesday.

The Freds have been flying up the table and were in sight of the top two, helped by a thumping 5-0 win at home to Burnham on Saturday.

But after a goalless first half against Bracknell, Ryan Markham was sent off for a late challenge on Seb Bowerman.

The visiting Freds capitulated when a man down as TJ Bohane, Joe Grant and Adam Cornell found the net to secure a 3-0 win for the home side.

It was also a night to forget for Abingdon United who extended their winless league run to seven with a 4-0 defeat to Windsor at the Northcourt.

This followed a credible 1-1 draw at home to fellow mid-table side Tuffley Rovers on Saturday. United went down to nine men but held on for a point thanks to a first half James Organ goal.

However, Oxford City Nomads got back to winning ways with an impressive 5-1 at home to Longlevens.

The Nomads goals came from Connor Mattimore (4 minutes), Liam Talboys (16), Will McEachran (31), Sami Khawaja (43) and Siyanda Gila (87).

Longlevens' consolation came from Myron Turner's first half strike when City who are up to 14th in the Hellenic Premier League, were already 3-0 up.

Stars 14-1 win lights up rink

Ice hockey

OXFORD City Stars launched an all out assault to smash Invicta Mustang 14-1 at Dxpens Road on Sunday.

Man of the match Kamil Kinkor notched four goals while Matt Lawday impressed with a hat trick and skipper Darren Elliot and Joe Edwards netted braces.

Further strikes came from Jake Florey and Joshua Oliver as Oxford ran riot.

Kenny Redmond's men were 6-0 up at the end of the first period and had reached double figures by the final third.

Stars were 12-0 up before Aaron Ferris scored Invicta's consolation on 48 minutes.

Oxford, who are up to third in the NIHL2 table travel to Basingstoke Buffalo on Saturday.

Hard work and training pay off for skiers at championships

Rollerski

TWO Oxfordshire skiers have been crowned British champions at the British Rollerski Championships in Castle Combe, Wiltshire.

Holly Rees-Lay (21) from Woodstock, who is part of the British Nordic development squad, claimed the senior female title after a wet but competitive weekend of racing.

Didcot's Beth Ireland, 16, matched Holly's top spot and was crowned Under-18 female British champion.

The British Rollerski Championships was the final leg of the 2017 GB Rollerski Series, with both athletes also claiming overall series wins in their categories after some stunning performances over the summer.

Both Holly and Beth will compete in Cross Country FIS races in Europe over the winter season.

As well as spending time overseas, the pair will continue with regular training sessions at Hillingdon and Redbridge cycle circuits.

Neil Salmons from the British Nordic development squad, said: "The results are really impressive and reflect the huge amount of hard work and dedication they have put into training throughout the summer.

"This stands them in very good stead for sucressful and exciting winter racing on snow."

U's treasure victory over Pirates as they secure three points

By George Welch

Bristol Rovers 0
Oxford United 1
Alex Mowatt 82

Attendance: 9,656 (1,244 away)

A BEAMING Pep Clotet was full of praise for his players after Oxford United ground out a 1-0 win at Bristol Rovers on Saturday.

The U's made it three wins from three thanks to Alex Mowatt's first goal in United colours eight minutes from the end.

The win, which included a fifth clean sheet of the season, lifted Oxford into the play-off places.

Clotet said: "It was a fantastic performance from the boys – I have to credit them massively.

"They showed a real togetherness, ground out a result and, not only did they defend very well and manage to stop Bristol playing, we managed to put a good footballing display in."

He added: "They can play really good football but they can also play well for each other and the fans.

"They can defend results, win the ball back, play on the counter attack and deal with quality with a good style.

"We have fantastic attitude and commitment."

But United didn't have it all their way and they had to show plenty of defensive resolve against a very direct and robust side.

Man mountain Rory Gaffney who targeted the diminutive Ricardinho throughout, was the prime target for the Pirates who were typically route one and dangerous in the air.

The striker, not known for his goalscoring prowess, had the ball in the net early on but the assistant referee had raised his flag.

Wes Thomas and Jack Payne went tantalisingly close before a soft Rovers back pass nearly presented Thomas with a golden opportunity, but the striker could only connect with the post instead of the ball.

Payne had the ball in the back of the net in the second half, only to be denied by the same assistant referee that chalked off Gaffney's first half effort.

All the full-blooded contest needed was a goal and with time running out it came from Mowatt, who stroked home in front of the United fans and opened his account for the U's.

'Wonderful opportunity' as youngster signs pro contract

YOUNGSTER Owen James has signed a professional contract with Oxford United.

The forward, who turned 17 on Friday is a first year pro at the U's having progressed through the club's development system.

The highly rated teenager made his debut for the youth team at the age of 14 in 2015 and has regularly found the back of the net for the Under 18s this season.

James struggled to hide his delight at signing a professional contract.

He told the club: "It's a dream come true to sign for my hometown club.

"I want to thank everyone who has helped me get this far – my parents and family and all the coaches who have had such a massive influence.

"It has been a big step up to be a scholar this season and I have seen how hard you have to work to get this chance but it is a wonderful opportunity for me and I'm determined to make the most of it."

The striker will want to follow in the footsteps of fellow academy products Josh Ruffels, Cannee Carroll and Callum O'Dowda, the latter fetching United a cool £1m to £1.5m from Bristol City in the summer of 2016.

Youth team coach Leon Blackmore-Such described James as a 'hard working' and 'clever player adding: "Now it is up to him to listen to advice, keep learning, and keep making progress.

"He has such a positive attitude that I am sure he will do very well."

Mowatt delighted to score his first goal

MATCH WINNER Alex Mowatt relished the magic moment his first Oxford United goal earned maximum points against Bristol Rovers.

The attacking midfielder, on loan from Barnsley, calmly slotted home the only goal of the game in the 82nd minute having replaced Jack Payne 12 minutes earlier.

And he did it in front of more than 1,200 jubilant travelling U's fans.

The 22 year-old always backs himself to score so he was happy to score his first goal in Oxford colours.

He said: "It could have gone either way really but I was saying on the bench to [substitute goalkeeper] Scott Shearer that we would nick it in the end and we've done that so I'm happy.

"When I was coming on I was thinking about either creating or scoring a goal and I'm glad I've done that.

"I always back myself to score so I'm glad to get the first one out of the way."

United manager Pep Clotet applauded his squad after the hard earned goal and win.

He said: "It was a very good counter attack, all the team worked very hard for us to create that chance and when we scored it, it was the prize and reward that the lads deserved."

Right back Christian Ribeiro and centre half John Mousinho made up half the Football League Paper's defence in its team of the week.

Women get wake up call in 4-0 cup defeat

OUFCW

OXFORD United Women made the worst possible start to their FA Continental Tyres Cup campaign in a 4-0 thumping defeat at Birmingham City Ladies.

Three second half City goals brought an abrupt end to United's unbeaten start to the 2017/18 season.

Lucy Quinn (54 minutes), Hayley Ladd (86) and Charlie Wellings (89) goals added to Freda Ayisi's first half strike (38) as the Blues made light work of the U's in the first group match last Wednesday.

Chloe Chivers was United's biggest attacking threat, but she could only force Birmingham keeper Ann Katrin Berger into a comfortable save before unleashing an audacious 35-yard shot which dropped narrowly over the bar.

The City breakthrough came just before half time when Ayisi cheekily back heeled the ball into the net.

Taome Oliver went close for the Yellows but the Blues doubled their lead less than 10 minutes after half time when Quinn fired past Claire Skinner.

United defender Hannah Short received a straight red on the hour for a professional foul, but the hosts had to wait until the dying minutes to make their numerical advantage count.

Ladd converted from a corner and a low Wellings finish made it 4-0 and two goals in the final four minutes for the dominant home side.

The U's also have Everton Ladies, Manchester City Women and Doncaster Rovers Belles in Group Two North.

Volley good show nets United valuable point

By George Welch

Oxford United 1
Christian Ribeiro 35

Charlton Athletic 1
Tanque Fosu 18

Attendance: 7,070 (689 away)

CHRISTIAN Ribeiro's stunning first goal for the club earned Oxford United a 1-1 draw against fellow play-off hopefuls Charlton Athletic on Tuesday night.

The right back popped up to smash home a fantastic left footed volley into the far corner to level the scores 10 minutes before half time.

The strike cancelled out a sixth goal in four matches for Tarique Fosu, who gave the away side the lead when a defensive error presented him with an empty net midway through the first half.

Josh Ruffels panged harmlessly wide with the first chance of the game but it was winger Fosu who impressed early on as Oxford initially struggled to get near their west London visitors.

The livewire fired wide on 17 minutes after twisting and turning in United's box following a nest Charlton move down the right.

The 21 year-old had more of a say a minute later when he charged down a Curtis Nelson clearance beat U's keeper Simon Eastwood to the loose ball and fired into an empty net to put the Addicts ahead.

The U's fans chanted and rallied behind their team, who struggled with Charlton's quality early on, and the men in yellow responded by levelling the scores 10 minutes before half time.

A James Henry cross was headed away to Ribeiro, who almost looked shocked when he planted the ball in the back of the net.

Sixty seconds later and a delicious curler from Ruffels was inches away from giving the hosts the lead.

Wes Thomas fluffed wide before a Ricardinho piledriver was somehow kept out by a combination of Ben Amos and Jake Forster-Caskey as the U's enjoyed their best spell just before half time.

Twinkle toes Jack Payne led the charge in the second half as he danced through a crowd of red bodies, only to skew wide when he got his shot away.

Both sides continued to create chances in the second half, which was equally as entertaining as the first.

Holmes (twice), Josh Magennis (twice) and Billy Clarke went close for Karl Robinson's side while at the other end, Thomas saw a header from the edge of the area pushed behind.

Oxford pressed for a winner and substitute Jon Obika forced Amos into a low save with a long-range effort before Ricardinho went close with a rising drive in the last minute.

Reflecting on the game, U's manager Pep Clotet felt a point was a fair result.

He said: "Both teams showed a really good level of football. It's a fair result. Anything could have happened and I think both will be happy with a point."

The Spaniard was impressed by a 'strong' Charlton side, who look to have checked under Robinson's stewardship this year. He added: "We know they're in a position they deserve to be in for the size of the club and the quality of the players.

"Ourselves, we are very focused going game by game and building to get better and try to play football our fans can be proud of.

"Eventually we'll see how far we can go. It's only our second season in League One so we'll go step by step."

'Have faith – my left foot's not just for standing on'

CHRISTIAN Ribeiro believes Oxford United's 1-1 draw with Charlton Athletic showed the best of what English football's third tier has to offer.

The full back scored his first goal in Oxford colours 16 months after joining the club on a free from Exeter City.

His stunning volley rescued a point for the U's in what was an entertaining League One game at the Kassam Stadium.

He said: "I can't believe nobody's got any faith in me – that left foot's not just for standing on honestly!

"It was one of those things it just landed to me at the time, but more importantly it was at a good time in the game to get back into it."

Both sides played some neat football, a stark contrast from the test posed by Bristol Rovers on Saturday.

Welshman Ribeiro, who scored on his 14th game for the club, said: "For the first 20 minutes we were on the ropes a little bit and they were a really good side.

"I was really impressed by Charlton. They're going to be a top-four side this year – the best we've played.

"We were sluggish at the start for some reason but it was a good time to get back to 1-1 and the rest of the game was a good, even battle with both teams going for it. It was a really good game – a good advert for League One."

Both teams remain in the play-offs and United host Rotherham United on Saturday.

■ Oxford United have drawn an away tie in the first round of the FA Cup with League Two side Port Vale who are just above the relegation zone. The match is due to be played between November 3 and 6.
